Director promises 'poetic' scenes

Rachel Ward and Richard Chamberlain will apparently be steaming up the TV tubes this spring when they appear in the nine-hour ABC adaptation of Colleen McCullough's The Thorn Birds. Director Daryl Duke says the love affair between the heroine of the novel and her handsome priest will have plenty of naughty parts, guaranteed to stack up those ratings numbers. Duke says he has not made a soft-porn film. He says the scenes "are very erotic, very sensual — and I hope the audience will find them very poetic."

Petty links up with company

PEOPLE

Yet another rock band has linked up with a manufacturer to hype a rock tour. When Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers start their scheduled three-month concert tour, it'll be with advertising and tickets promoting Tom and T&B Beer. The brewery, trying to boost its popularity in the late-teen sales bracket, is following the lead of The Rolling Stones, The Who, Rod Stewart and other big acts. Tecate is reportedly spending a fortune for the tie-in and it suits Petty just fine, as attendance is down at rock concerts these days because of dwindling disposable teen incomes and rising ticket prices.

You mean those guys don't really get blown up? department: The Hollywood Stuntmen's Union has decided it's high time to set a few teenaged the show. But now the situation has gotten much worse. At one time most of the public didn't know stuntmen even existed, but since the movie Hooper and with the TV series Fall Guy, we've become a glamorized profession. Kids want to mimic our macho image — and we've got to do something to stop the situation." Their first step is going on a lecture tour of 50 southern California high schools to get the word across to youths that their jobs are done with a lot of planning and care. Despite that care, they'll emphasize, stuntmen still get killed on the job. "We want them to know it's a dangerous business, and if they're going to try to get out on the highway and imitate us — they haven't got a chance."

Anybody who calls the Brunswick, Ga., police force a bunch of dummies is half-right. Times are obviously tough in Brunswick because the latest recruit on the force is detective Glynn Carr, a life-size, soft-sculptured doll. Carr was enlisted as a sidekick for officers who must patrol without partners because of a manpower shortage. "This will give us a two-man patrol in a one-man car," says Mayor Reggie Holtzendorf. "It will be interesting to see what the reaction is in the community." Carr, who has dark hair and a handlebar mustache, was donated to the city last week by a local artist.

ANSWERS

Who was Laura Secord?

By Randal McIlroy

Q. Who was Laura Secord?
A. Secord is remembered for her contribution to the War of 1812. She was born Laura Ingersoll in Massachusetts, but moved with her family to Upper Canada (now Ontario), where she married James Secord. In June, 1813, at Queenston, she heard of a planned attack by U.S. soldiers on Beaver Dam. She walked 30.5 kilometres to tell Lieut. James FitzGibbon of the plan, and this information was instrumental to a subsequent surprise attack on the Americans at Beaver Dam. Oddly enough, she didn't receive any formal recognition for this until 1881, when the Prince of Wales (later Edward VII) awarded her £100 for the deed. Her Queenston house has since been restored, and is open to the public.

Q. Is Ellen Travolta of the TV series Joanie Loves Chachi related to John Travolta?
A. Did the dancing feet give her away? Ellen, who plays Chachi's mother Louise, is John's older sister.

Q. Was country singer Johnny Cash ever in jail?

A. Yes, but for a man who did so well recording songs about San Quentin and Folsom Prison, Cash hasn't spent much time behind bars. More than 20 years ago, Cash spent two separate nights in jail for reasons reportedly connected to his addiction at the time to pep pills.

Q. Why do people make so much noise about James Dean?

A. Dean only made three movies (East of Eden, Rebel Without a Cause and Giant) before his death in an automobile accident Sept. 30, 1955, but most critics will tell you that the brooding, restless character was not only a powerful actor but a symbol of the frustrated youth of his generation (British cartoonist Ray Lowry once suggested that if Dean were alive today, his new movie might be Rebel Without a Mortgage).

Q. Who were the stars of the film *They Shoot Horses, Don't They?

A. The movie about marathon dancing starred Jane Fonda, Michael Sarrazin, Gig Young and Susannah York.

Q. Has the Swedish band ABBA ever performed in Winnipeg?

A. No.

Best of the worst, Part II

Back by popular demand, more Dubious Achievement Awards

Now, in response to your lack of response on the first set of Dubious Achievements, 1982 — another batch.

THE BEEF, BEEF, BEEF AWARD ... to the hard-done-by prisoners at Stony Mountain pen. Last May assistant warden Russ McGill reported the boys bellyache if they get too much beef.

THE EASY-AS-TAKING-CANDY-FROM-BABIES-AWARD ... to the Winnipeg Jaycees, for not allowing candy to be given out to kids along the Santa Claus Parade route. Help yourself to the humbugs, Jaycees.

THE BEATINGS-GO-ON AWARD ... to the creeps who jumped a man behind the Mall Hotel last month, relieved him of his 12 beer, and beat him so badly he was blinded in one eye. What the attack demonstrates, of course, is that walking downtown with a full case of beer is the second most dangerous thing to do in Winnipeg. The most dangerous is walking downtown with 12 empties. You just don't do that!

THE FUN-COUPLE-OF-THE-YEAR (LOCAL) AWARD ... to Winnipeg Jets roommates Dale Hawerchuk and Scott Arniel who, reputedly, hold the wildest parties this side of Peter Nygard's full-length fur coat.

FUN-COUPLE-OF-THE-YEAR, (INTERNATIONAL) AWARD ... to

Gordon Sinclair

Mary and David Collin of New Holstein, Wis., who last month beat out 4,000 other contestants in a Green Bay TV station's name the snowstorm contest and then declined the first prize — an all expenses paid winter weekend in Flin Flon. Instead the fun couple flip-flopped and took the alternate first prize — a $500 snowblower.

THE POSITIVELY FIT-TO-BE-TIED-STOP-IT AWARD ... to the Fit Stop, that paragon of positive thinking, whose salespeople are instructed to phone the head office each time they sell a membership to the health club. Then the boys and girls at the head office all gather around the speaker phone and sing, "For You're a Jolly Good Fellow." That's just for a one-month to two-year membership. Sell a life-time membership and the boys and girls at head office add party horns.

THE TOO-PERSONAL-FOR-PRIME-TIME AWARD ... to Peter Warren who, after quietly marrying a woman named Gabby (that's worth an award in itself) Sawchyn last month took a call on Beefs and Bouquets congratulating him. "Thank you," Warren curtly replied.

Then, Warren added: "Let's keep the personal stuff out of it, OK?" Whatever you say, Peter.

THE NO-MUSS, NO-FUSS HOP ON A BUS, GUS AWARD ... to Winnipeg Transit which rewarded its drivers for winning a national safe driving award by treating them to free coffee and doughnuts for a day.

THE BEWARE-OF-CREEPS-BEARING-GIFTS AWARD ... to the guy who stole a car from in front of a Winnipeg home, then quietly returned it to the owner the next day with a note of apology and two tickets to the next Jets game. Naturally, the thankful car owner used the tickets and while he was at the game, the thief burglarized his home.

THE HE'S-GOT-A-BONE-TO-PICK-BUT-HE'S-NOT-TELLING-WHERE-IT-IS AWARD ... to Norman Paterson, the 20-year-old Winnipeg gravedigger who quit his job at St. Mary's Cemetery on Osborne Street the day he started because he found a human leg bone in the first plot he dug.

"It's supposed to be fresh ground," Paterson protested. Paterson, obviously a salt-of-the-earth kind of guy, was so disturbed he hid the bone somewhere in the cemetery. Meanwhile, cemetery business manager William Kowalski took the leg bone incident in stride. There was a large graveyard realignment undertaken 30 years ago, he explained, and "of course you're going to get some bones moving about ..."

I can dig that.

THE TUT-TUT-TUT AWARD ... to California police Lieut. George E. LaBrash who filed a law suit claiming that the stroke he suffered while guarding the King Tut exhibit was the result of the legendary curse of the pharaohs. The presiding judge was not amused. And LaBrash left the San Francisco courtroom without the $18,400 in disability pay he was after. Oh, curses!

THE GOOD-THING-WE'RE-IN-RADIO-BECAUSE-THEY-CAN'T-SEE-HOW-RED-OUR-FACE-IS AWARD ... to radio station CFRW which announced one day last month that Ontario deejay Jim Brady would be replacing Steve Jackson as its new morning man and the next day had to retract the statement because Brady decided he wasn't coming after all. Meanwhile, Jackson — head in hand and tongue still flapping — carries on.

THE OH-YOU-DON'T-LOOK-LIKE-YOUR-PICTURE-IN-THE-PAPER AWARD ... to the Unity Taxi driver who, while discussing what he read in the newspaper, disclosed to his passenger that he usually looks at, that guy, what's his name? "Sinclair," the cabbie finally remembered. "Yeah, I've had him in the cab a couple of times." Which was news to me. I was the passenger.
